

Get Covered: A Guide to the Health Insurance Marketplace

- The Marketplace helps uninsured people find health coverage.
- When you fill out a Marketplace application, we'll tell you if you qualify for:
 - Private insurance plans. You may qualify for savings based on your household size and income. If you don't qualify for savings, you may still buy Marketplace coverage. Plans cover essential health benefits, pre-existing conditions, and preventive care. You can usually only enroll in one of these plans during the annual Open Enrollment Period, unless you qualify for a Special Enrollment Period. See below for more information.
 - Medicaid or the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). These programs cover people with limited income, disabilities, and other circumstances. If it looks like you qualify, we'll send your information to your state agency, and they'll contact you. You can apply for Medicaid and CHIP any time.
- Use HealthCare.gov or your state's Marketplace to apply. Some states operate their own Marketplace. In other states, the Marketplace is run by the federal government.
- If you're eligible for job-based insurance, you can consider switching to a Marketplace plan. But you can't be enrolled in a job-based plan and a Marketplace plan with savings at the same time. If you're not enrolled in a job-based plan but are offered one, you won't qualify for savings based on your income unless the job-based plan is unaffordable or doesn't meet minimum requirements.
- If you experience certain life events (like moving to a new state, getting married, having a child, or losing health coverage), you may qualify for a Special Enrollment Period to enroll in or change your Marketplace plan outside Open Enrollment. You can apply for Medicaid and CHIP any time. You may be asked to submit documents to confirm the events that make you eligible. You must send copies of the documents before you can start using your coverage.
